Synopsis

In order to impress his school friend Alicia, Francisco tapes a video and uploads it to all the social networks not realizing that this action would be offensive to his classmates and teachers. This is a good enough reason to get suspended for a month from school. His mother is enrolling him to a less strict school to avoid missing his senior year. Francisco regards the new school as being too easy and is trying to become popular by teasing and discriminating his classmates.

Reality soon confronts him when he gets beaten in a hip-hop contest and starts to taste the consequences of his actions. In a constant dialogue with "Me!" his imaginary friend which in reality is his alter ego and in the company of Marce, a punk girl, Jorge labeled as a "criminal" and Leonel a boy with Down's Syndrome, all of whom he met in his new school, Francisco undertakes an adventure of new experiences that will change his view of the world around him and even himself.
